

Benefits:

UT students discuss the benefits of being in a romantic relationship, including having a support system, having a go-to person, having someone listen to you, and having someone that you enjoy spending time with.