

Relationship Working:

UT students discuss how to know if a relationship is working, including feeling loved and secure, compromising, being able to count on your relationship, and growing personally with the other person.